Definitions

• Individual Investment: The investor owns the account. On the death of the investor ownership of the account passes as a part of the investor's estate under the investor's will or by intestacy.

• Joint Tenants with Right of Survivorship Investment: The investors own the account in proportion to their net contributions. Texas CEF may pay any sum in the account to any owner at any time. On the death of an investor, the investor's ownership of the account passes to the surviving investor(s).

• Trust, Business, etc.: The investment is owned by the trust, business, etc. Texas CEF may pay any sum in the account as directed by any authorized trustee/officer. The Texas CEF Trust Certification must be attached.

• Custodial Account: The minor (or other individual for whom the custodial relationship is established) owns the investment. Interest is reported to the IRS using the tax identification of the minor. Texas CEF may pay any sum in the account on the order of the custodian(s) only. The investment does not automatically transfer to the minor when they reach majority. The custodian must request a change in ownership to transfer control of the account.

The mission of the Texas District Church Extension Fund is to extend God's Kingdom by boldly and responsibly assisting congregations to acquire land and buildings and by linking investors with congregations.
